

TAKE NO ACTION ON SHELL CREEK

But Realtors Vote Down
Resolution Pledging
Page Support

MEETING WAS STORMY

Shell Creek Advocate Makes Threat to Change Attitude of Exchange

By a standing vote of 20 to 5, the Tulsa Real Estate exchange at its Thursday noonday luncheon rejected a resolution presented by C. H. Meshew which practically pledged the support of the board to the Shell creek water project to the extent of issuing a call for a public mass meeting in the Convention hall Friday night for the purpose of bringing pressure up on the water commission to take some definite action regarding the proposition made by Chas. Page to the water committee of the Retail Merchants association.

Meshew presented this resolution notwithstanding the fact that at the meeting at which the exchange water committee was appointed it had been unanimously agreed that the exchange would take no action in the water matter until the committee had presented its final report. Under the excuse that the public should be advised of what the committee is doing, Chairman A. S. Viner of this committee read the answers to a series of questions put to Page by the committee which of course was entirely favorable to Shell creek. Taking advantage of this Meshew made a wonderful flow of oratory endeavoring to crowd his resolution down the throat of the exchange.

When Meshew made the motion to adopt his resolution it was met with a series of objections from members who called attention to facts governing the appointment of the committee. Even Chairman Viner pronounced it to be unfair. But President Glass stated that the exchange had reversed itself on former occasion and said he was going to put the matter anyway. It was almost unanimously voted down.

The meeting then ended in almost an uproar. "You are not going to publish anything about this resolution, are you?" officials of the exchange inquired of a World reporter. "I certainly am," he replied. "Well, we will take different action then next week," said John H. Miller, formerly president and a Shell creek advocate.

OIL NORTH LEWIS AVENUE

Citizens Get Relief From Dust,
Turner Petitioners Commissioners.

For the first time in weeks, citizens living on North Lewis avenue can breathe freely. For no longer does the dust fog up and fill the air as it has done all summer.

And the thanks, so say the citizens, belong to the county commissioners and Hal Turner, marriage license clerk who is a North Lewis citizen. Hal got tired of eating dust and went to the county commissioners. A few days ago a big sprinkler wagon hove into view and began spreading oil. Now from First street to the Frisco tracks the street is practically dustless with its coat of oil.

Closing In on Safe Robbers.
SALLISAW.—Officers believe they have surrounded in the mountains the two men who Tuesday blew open a safe in Glau business house, and carried off about $50 in cash and some $2,000 worth of notes. Their capture is believed to be only a matter of time.

Farmers to Protect Quail.
KENDRICK.—Kendrick farmers are taking steps to protect quail in this section this year. Nearly all farmers will prohibit hunting on their land. It is said this is an exceptionally good year for the birds and large flocks are seen daily.

Three Hurt in Smashup.
FAIRVIEW.—Robert Mitchell and his wife and child are near death in a hospital here as the result of their auto being struck and demolished by a fast Orient passenger train four miles north of here Wednesday. The accident occurred at what is known as one of the worst crossings on the Orient system.

Have Chance for Life.
OKLAHOMA CITY.—A. P. Degerfield, who attempted suicide Monday by the poison route, is still alive, but the police decline to predict recovery. J. W. Leubner of Amarillo, who reported a huge gash in his throat by highwaymen Monday, is said to be improving.

American equipment will be used throughout in two automatic telephone exchanges with a capacity of 10,000 subscribers in Copenhagen.

POSTPONE CHARTER ACTION

Revision Committee Will Meet Next Week to Complete Work.

Final action on the proposed change in Tulsa's charter to the managerial form has been postponed until the first of next week, Judge James B. Diggs, chairman of the charter revision committee composed of civic club members, said yesterday. The committee met in Judge Diggs' office in the Clinton building Wednesday night to consider the first draft of the proposed changes, but adjourned without taking action.

This committee now proposes to make only such changes in the charter as are essential to city managerial government, leaving other sections of the present charter status quo that do not oppose or interfere with such changes.
